MRS. INMAN said that she wanted her class to see "one of the most outstanding nursery schools in Southern California." The women, who came by bus, asked many, many questions about the school's program and particularly wanted to see all the equipment. They were much impressed by the number of fathers who were busy at the school that Saturday morning, which was a scheduled "Father's Work

The school also was visited by two members of the Mountain View School District staff—Mrs. Thursby, the director of curriculum, and Mr. Wayne, business manager of the school district.

They came by appointment to take pictures of the equipment of the school as they want to build similar equipment for the seven kindergartens in their district, which is located outside of El Monte. Yule Parties Scheduled by Nursery Unit

The pre-schoolers of the Sierra Madre Community Nursery School will be bus-ily engaged during their December class time in learning Christmas songs and in preparation for their Christmas parties to be held at the school on Dec. 18 and 19.

Dependent upon the abilities of each age group, the children will be making individual gifts in their groups for their mothers and they will be turning out gaily decorated Christmas cookies for their fathers.

The Monday-Wednesday-Friday groups I, II and III will celebrate at their Christmas party on Monday, the 18th, while those enrolled on the Tuesday Thursday schedule will be gathering for their party on Tuesday, the 19th.

The parties are scheduled at 11 a.m. and are planned so that they will not conflict with the Christmas programs in the Sierra Madre

Elementary Schools.

The children enrolled in Group IV all will celebrate independent of the other three groups in their own lovely new large room especially designed and built for the needs of these older children by the fathers of

THE CHILDREN and their parents will sing Christmas songs around the Christmas tree and participate in a brief program, after which they will adjourn to the group class rooms for refreshments.

In order that those nursery school families who wish to participate in a gift to the school may do so, a container will be placed at turn to page nine

Angle Parking Is Better

Because of its many diverse angles, this newspaper has been slow to discuss editorially the downtown parking situation and as to whether cars should continue to be parked at angles or if parallel parking should be insti-

One of the virtues of the latter is safety. Undoubtedly parallel parking is safer. However, Sierra Madre's downtown streets are wide so the safety factor is minimized as regards angle parking.

There are other counter-balancing aspects for angle parking, principally that it permits parking of almost twice the number of cars and in this is distinctly superior in accommodating motorists. Another beneficial angle is the speed in which a car may be parked angularly rather than parallel. THERE IS ANOTHER aspect to the parking situation in Sierra Madre, an important one that only lately has In this there figures the new Post Office Building on S. Baldwin, and the parking facilities adjacent.

Much of this will have to be "speed parking." By that we mean a motorist pauses only a few minutes while transacting his or her business in the Post Office.

This necessitates room for parking - speedily so, without loss of time, in the area from Sierra Madre Blvd., along S. Baldwin south to at least Esperanza — the quick action is necessary for both parking and leaving.

In view of all these conditions, the SIERRA MADRE NEWS recommends angle parking throughout the downtown business section, from Lima along W. Sierra Madre Blvd, to Baldwin and thence south along S. Baldwin past the new Post Office Building. It believes that it will affect more persons beneficially.

Well, It's About Time

Most California parents will be heartened by the State Curriculum Commission's recent emphasis on Americanism in its new guide for teaching of social studies in all of the state's public schools.

Originally prepared by more than 1,000 educators from throughout the state, the guide was beefed up by the commission to include such subjects as, in the tenth grade section, "The American Way of Life"; "The Free Enterprise System as a Goal and Hope of Mankind," and in the twelfth grade section, "How the Free Enterprise System Promotes Human Welfare and Progress."

In commenting on the guide, Dr. C. C. Trillingham, superintendent of the Los Angeles County Schools and a member of the commission, said that "I'm so tired of hearing about this plot to overthrow the government between the book publishers, this commission and the State Board of Education, when we're trying our darndest to get mese (patriotic) principles in.

ALL OF WHICH raises the question as to why it has been necessary to "try our darndest" to get back into our children's curriculums some of the basic beliefs that used to be essentials in our schools. Why have such things been kept out during the past 30 years?

Doesn't the fact that it has taken a fight to resore them afford some substance to all the talk about some "conniving" which so tires Dr. Trillingham. A lot of people

Stronger Anti-Smut

Frank G. Bonelli, chairman of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, and Sheriff Peter Pitchess should be listened to carefully by all parents, sellers of books, pamphlets and newspapers and entertainment purveyors when they contend that the laws dealing with obscenity and pornography should be strengthened.

We are prone to bypass this vital subject, considering it permissable to permit dealers to infuse smut ad-infinitim into the thoughts and actions of our youths. Just listen to this remark by Supervisor Bonelli:

"Referring to observations by the Grand Jury that some 20 photography studios are specializing in photographing nude models, some using models under 18 years of age, and that some of these studios are being operated by persons with police records for felonious sex offenses, and also a disclosure by Sheriff Peter Pitchess that obscenity laws are inadequate to give law enforcement officers the proper means to prosecute violators, the Board of Supervisors has been given a mandate to bring about enactment of tougher laws to cope with the problem."

PARAGRAPHS from Sheriff Pitchess' letter to the supervisors also are enlightening:

"Relative to the problem of pornographic motion pictures, this matter has received the attention and concern of many public officials, as well as those primarily concerned with the administration of criminal justice.

"Admittedly, the problem is complex and, indeed, possessing some apparently profound legal questions. Nevertheless, I recommend that the Board of Supervisors instruct the county counsel to inquire into the possibility of recommending a county ordinance which may serve to control those few theater operators who insist on showing dom-loving peoples of the world, especially America. pornographic motion pictures.

"Another area of concern is that of the 'modeling agency.' It appears that much of the lewd film and other pornographic pictures originate in some of the less reputable business houses purportedly doing 'modeling work.'

"A recommendation is in order that the county counsel also inquire into the possibility of a county ordinance that pecially those of our youth. would serve as a measure of control, not only of such 'agencies,' but also the 'models' themselves."

THOUGH IT apparently has been unorganized there has been a cumulatively well-rounded campaign through- aghast. out the last two decades to debauch and demoralize the morals of American youth. This is not only prevalent in thing about it. Our hats off to Supervisor Bonelli and the motion picture, TV and radio industry but also in the Sheriff Pitchess.

News From Sacramento . . .

Nixon To Blast Brown Economic Record

By Henry C. MacArthur (Special from Capitol News Service to Sierra Madre News)

SACRAMENTO - Richard M. Nixon has indicated he will base much of his campaign for the Republican nomination for the Govership on slipping economic conditions and opportunity in California.

Should Nixon win the Republican nod next June, it's to be expected he would continue campaigning on the economic issue for the general election.

Governor Edmund G. Brown, who now is expected to announce his plans for reelection in January, may be expected to defend his Administration's contributions to the prosperity of the state — in fact, to boast, to some degree, of his accomplishments.

Thus the voting public seems destined to be in for a lot of facts, figures, percentages and growth graphs in the months ahead. While the subject, because of its téchnical nature, will become shopworn well before the election, boths sides no doubt will get as much mileage as possible. Be-cause both will have the statistics to prove they're right.

ALONG THIS LINE, GOVernor Brown's commissioner economic development, Carl Zachrisson, has issued a "California Statistical Abstract - 1961." Brown modestly points out that the book "clearly shows the su-periority of California's business climate."

The report shows California leads the national average in gains in population, personal income, labor force, agriculture income, retail sales, and corporate profits. To anyone following the reports on these various phases of the state's growth, there is nothing too surprising in the compilation of figures from the various other state and Federal agencies. However, before drawing too many conclusions from the report, there perhaps are a few matters which should be considered.

THE ECONOMIC Development Agency, which prepared the report, was created by the Legislature in 1959, along with the office of consumer counsel, as one of Brown's first legislative programs. The consumer is actually part of the Gov-ernor's office and the EDA, while part of the Department of Finance, is closely coordinated with the Governors' office. Both agencies have demonstrated in the past that their concern for the consumer or for business is tied in closely with Administration policies and their contributions come much to an set policy. The consumer with it.

counsel, for instance, declined to take a position on proposals to reduce taxes in 1960 because the Governor's office oppoed them.

So it's likely the "Statistical Abstract — 1961," was prepared to show the state's economic conditions in as favorable a light as possible.

FOR INSTANCE, the report failed to mention anything about the state's taxes on business and income and how they compared with other states. Surely this is an important part of a busi-

Quite a number of the statistics center around the population increase which, an annual growth of 513,000 persons, exceeded the national growth average by 150 per cent. As a result, the labor force jumped 40 per cent during the 1950's, compared to a 13 per cent increase for the nation.

Retail trade increased 75.9 per cent in California from 1950 to 1960, compared to a national gain of only 49.6 per cent. This also is attributable to the population in-crease to a large degree.

Now the statistical report, which is largely just that, does not come out and take credit for the Brown Administration for these growth factors. But there nevertheless is an undertone, reflected in the Governor's comments, that his Administraend once the Governor has tion had something to do

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor: I would like to protest an arbitrary rule of the Railway Express Agency which certainly does not appear to be in the public interest:

According to N. L. Arnold, R.E.A. general agent in the Pasadena office, they will not make deliveries beyond Sturdevant Dr. in Sierra Madre-despite the fact that the Marlborough Terrace section, in which I and nearly 100 other persons live, is only a few blocks farther than Sturdevant and is included within the Sierra Madre city limits. Consequently, this makes it necessary for the Marlborough Terrace residents to drive 22 miles round trip to the R.E.A. office on the west side of Pasadena.

It would be appreciated if you would look into R.E.A.'s districting policies. Since Mr. Arnold tells me his organization is also under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, I am forwarding a copy of this letter to that body, as well as other interested organizations and individuals.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter. Sincerely yours,

-F. JOSEPH McCORMACK 823 Canyon Crest Sierra Madre, Calif.

Dear Editor: The impression created by your Nov. 21 editorial on school news, a tattered flag and a deteriorated lawn is one criticizing the administration of Sierra Madre and Sierra Mesa Schools, a responsibility I share proudly with Miss Betty Newton and many others in the Pasadena Unified School District. Therefore, I respectfully request that you include these facts. 1-News is made in this school by teachers working with children, with parents, and with others on the school staff to effectively help each child develop all his potentials to the fullest. Our goal is superior education for each pupil, and many of the steps along the way are giant steps for little children but might fail to be sensational and dramatic newspaper copy.

2—We do not try to teach in a vacuum. Parents are informed and we agree that Sierra Madre parents are in-terested. Teachers are presently completing the last of our conferences with the parents of each child in school. Before these teacher-parents meetings to ex-change information and plan together, we had a group meeting in which the instruction program was re-viewed for the entire school.

Each teacher previewed the instruction program for book and pamphlet circles, especially in New York City. Much of this is, of course, generated under disguise of freedom of thought and expression. This is such that it cannot help but injure the morals of American youth and, in many cases, those of their elders. Hollywood turns out a plethora of such debauching pictures, meanwhile refusing pointblank to make anti-

Communistic pictures, the most vital question before free-IT WOULD BE well for the Los Angeles County government to follow the suggestions of Supervisor Bonelli and Sheriff Pitchess and assume the leadership in strengthening the laws dealing with the growing menace of obscenity and pornography jeopardizing the public's morals, es-One look at the police blotters in any city, including Sierra Madre, on any one day, will reveal how far this debauching of the morals of American youth has progressed. Follow the entries for a week and you will be his or her grade. Pasadena administrators joined school principals and teachers in these well-attended meetings to inform parents, and questions were encouraged, asked and answered.

Fine fodder for Red Moscow. It's time we did some-

A number of information sheets, bulletins and PTA Newsettes have gone to homes. Monthly PTA meetings are held with teachers returning in the evenings to join parents in looking for better ways to help children.

Dr. Jenkins was our first speaker and his frank discussion about school instruction and services should have been reported in the paper for htose unable to attend. "Pasadena Schools in Action" is mailed monthly to any parent who wishes this news service.

3-We would welcome you as a frequent and regular visitor at school, and would be delighted to take you through classrooms to see news being made, and to assist you in collecting factual information about our As with other concerned citizens, we would welcome your constructive suggestions, too. We have cooperated whenever you sent a photographer, and you may recall my telephone call last spring suggesting that you request menu and school board information from the Pasadena Education Center to be sure our citizens were informed through your newspaper I'm sure Dr. Jenkins would welcome your attendance at weekly school board meetings where policy is made for all schools, because the citizens of Sierra Madre have students in Wilson, Marshall, Pasadena High School, Roosevelt and Pasa-dena City College, as well as the two elementary schools to which you refer. 4—A new flag was flying when you called a week ago, and I explained that we had flown the worn flag a few days longer that would ordinarily have been done, because we had to convert flag ropes to fit a larger size flag used at all Pasadena

5—Your closing comment about lawn deterioration at our school was in complete error as I stated a week ago when you asked why it was brown. May I state again that it was poisoned to kill what essentially was a large growth of crabgrass. It was then duly replanted as you were informed it would be. Deterioration allowed?

No, just not enough money over the years to do all the maintenance we wanted and Pasadena is doing a grand job of helping us catch up. Five classrooms are also being painted now, and new drapes are up in the auditorium, all part of a $24,000 mantenance program at this school this year.

6-At our Parent Teacher Association Board meeting this past Monday evening requested reactions and parent help in establishing our student newspaper. If you have the time we would welcome assistance with this project which would be dealing directly with the specific school news to 6 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Dec. 15, 1955 — A block of 880 shares of stock in the Bank of Sierra Madre will be sold to the highest bidder, it was reliably reported this week. The stock which has a book value of $200 a share, was held in trust by the late president of the bank, Rollin C. Lewis, who died last Nov. 11.

The new trustee is Judge Arnold Praeger of Los Angeles Superior Court, a vice president of the bank. Under terms of the trust fund the stock must be sold to the highest bidder in block. There are 2,000 shares of stock outstanding in the bank. Controlling interest therefore would amount to 1,001 shares. It is believed that the institution which buys the 880 shares could manage to buy enough of the remaining stock to obtain control.

Bank directors are Thomas W. Neale, Al Morgan. David Allen, Rudolph Hartman, W. S .Hull and Judge Praeger.

A Child's Shadow May Loom Large

How many little children grow in stature, wisdom and integrity, to make the effect of their adult lives loom as large as the shadows cast by their small bodies when placed in the proper prospective? One simple rule, learned early in life and practiced faithfully will go far in accomplishing this goal. The rule: "What is right for one is right for everybody; what is wrong for one is wrong for everyone." Dishonesty, deception and cheating are not right for some, wrong for others. Neither is it wise to base our conduct on the concept that "if he does it, why shouldn't I?" Instead measure conduct in terms of standards valid for all and proper in the sight of God.

How may we learn and hold to these standards? How may we acquire the insight to distinguish right from wrong, and possess the courage to do right? The answer lies in prayer. The Church of our faith is a ninvaluable ally, a training ground for learning how to pray effectively, a citadel of spiritual strength in which we may all take refuge and find divine guidance.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

Bob Michael did an excellent job as narrator, holding the thread of the various skits together, assisted by Jack Mott as "Wierdo," a comic from outer space.

SOME OUTSTANDING performances were given by Beatric Jay in her monologue on today's foibles; Eleana Brown, in her dance of the Gay Nineties; Mary Moyer in her skit about a mother and indolent son, and Jane Buchan, Barbara Dunnagan and Mert Waite, the Golden Belles of the West who offered a "new twist or two" in their sidesplitting act.

Time and space prevents description of the various skits but those taking part and also in the show's preparation and direction were:

Mt. Wilson Physicist Tells Democratic Club Members About 10-Megaton Bombs

"A 10-megaton H-Bomb explosion over Los Angeles would immediately ignite everything within a radius of 25 miles," declared Dr. Halton C. Arp Nov. 28 at a public meeting sponsored by the Sierra Madre Democratic Club in the Sierra Mesa School.

"Within minutes the entire Los Angeles Basin and watershed would be aflame. The resultant firestorms are the single most devastating effect of a thermonuclear blast and are the one danger against which no currently considered protective device seems adequate," he added. Dr. Arp, a staff member at Mt. Wilson Observatory who received his Ph.D. in astronomy and physics from the California Institute of Technology, based his factual presentation on a report entitled "The Effects of Nuclear War" published by the Special Subcommittee on mittee on Atomic Energy in "THIRTY-FIVE PER CENT of the effective energy released by a surface or low altitude H-Bomb explosion is thermal or heat energy while 50 per cent is blast or shock energy. Our knowledge of such instantaneous firestorms is limited, but at Hiroshima the firestorm lasted six hours with winds to 30 mph and temperatures of 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit; an incendiary raid on Hamburg created firestorms approaching 2,000 degree Fahrenheit with winds over 100 mph lasting two days during which most occupants blast, which we can pre. Net Is Climbing sume to result in instantaneous and complete devastation," he said.

"Blast effects would demolish all multi-story brick and masonry buildings within a radius of seven miles and all good frame buildings in a radius of nine miles within 10 to 15 seconds after detonation. Within ten miles blast pressures could throw a 160 pound man 22 feet through the air.
Properly constructed blast shelters could protect from blast effects everyone be-yond four miles from ground

"LIKEWISE WE CAN protect ourselves from short term radiation or fallout, which comprises less than 10 per cent of the energy released, with fairly simple earth, masonry or metal vive the blast and firestorm effects," he explained.

Dr. Arp concluded by noting first, that the above described effects were based on an assumption made by the congressional committee that a probable minimum attack on the United States would be 1500 megatons with a single 10 megaton bomb allocated to Los Angeles, and second, that the actual Soviet capacity of attack is in excess of 20,000 megatons or 15 'times the assumed minimum

IN A SHORT business meeting prior to the public program the club disposed dinner tickets to a $25-plate Gala Democratic Party din-
